Current Responsibility

Andrew Bochner is a principal and consulting actuary with the New York Atlanta Health Practice of Milliman. He joined the firm in 2014.

Professional Work Experience

Andrew specializes in commercial health insurance pricing and filing and value-based contracting. His areas of expertise include:

- Preparing commercial state and federal rate filings for both ACA and non-ACA products, including individual, small group, and large group
- Providing actuarial support to health plans, including benchmarking, pricing, benefits compliance, reserving, and financial projections
- Developing and evaluating risk contract frameworks and parameters between payers and providers
- Analyzing healthcare utilization, costs, and trends for various clients using large commercial, Medicare, and Medicaid claims databases
- Modeling various alternative payment risk-sharing strategies for payers, providers, and pharmaceutical manufacturers

Prior to joining Milliman, Andrew worked for a large consulting firm where he performed valuations for defined benefit pension plans, consulted on de-risking strategies for pension plans, and performed asset-liability studies to determine the optimal level of risk that pension plans should incorporate in their investments.
